At Empower Technical Services, our purpose is to create long-term value by delivering high-quality engineering and technical services that support critical infrastructure and the organisations and communities that depend on it.

Through our expertise across electrical engineering, mechanical engineering, renewables and HVAC, we bring together specialist knowledge to provide an integrated service from concept through to completion. This commitment is closely connected to the way we grow, operate and support our customers over the long term.

We aim to:

- Deliver high-quality technical services that help our customers operate safely, efficiently and effectively
- Invest in our people through training, skills development, wellbeing and career opportunities
- Build strong and lasting relationships with customers, suppliers, contractors and communities
- Improve the efficiency of our operations through innovation, technology and continuous improvement
- Manage resources responsibly and seek to reduce the environmental impact of our activities
- Support positive outcomes for the people and communities connected to our business

These principles guide our strategy, governance and decision-making and are supported by relevant policies, practices, objectives and performance measures applicable to Empower Technical Services & subsidiaries and related entities.

We measure success not only through financial performance and growth, but also through the quality of the services we provide, the development of our people, the strength of our relationships and the long-term value we create.
