

TWO-STOREY EXTENSION

HOME OF TWO HALVES

A dramatic double-height extension has taken Steph and Tom Murray's 400-year-old cottage to another level

Profile

THE OWNERS

Stephanie Murray (@housfolk), a full-time mum, her husband, Tom, a chartered surveyor, and their children, Millie, eight, Alfie, five, and Phoebe, four

THE PROPERTY

A 400-year-old four-bedroom extended cottage in Great Eversden, Cambridgeshire

PROJECT COST
£150,000

Stephanie spent a lot of time sourcing statement lights for the island that wouldn't detract from the views. 'I spotted these amazing thin lights in a local sushi restaurant, thought they were really cool and tracked down a similar design online,' she says. 'Although I considered having five lights, in the end I went for three as it boiled down to cost. I'm glad I did – they work so well.'

Pendant lights, Norr11. Kitchen carcasses, Callerton, wrapped in Fenix NTM. Tap, Zip Water. Sink, Blanco. Porcelain floor tiles, Stone and Wood Shop. Bar stools, Dunelm. For a similar swivel armchair, try Dwell. Dining table, John Lewis. Dining chairs, Cult Furniture. Floor lamp, Made

FOR MORE GLASS EXTENSION INSPIRATION, GO TO REALHOMES.COM/EXTENSIONS

#SOREALHOMES